Bark-Worthy Newsletter

What's News...

Welcome back to the Playful Pups newsletter.

It's been a busy few months as always here in the pack. We've celebrated lots of birthdays, new friends and updates to our facility. Making sure your pups have the best time possible during their stay here at Playful Pups.

We've recently purchased a new bubble machine and fitted it and our existing machine onto the wall inside the pen. This means we can do bubble play more often with ease!

We also purchased two brand new tunnels to play in. These tunnels are heavy duty, agility tunnels which will provide many days of fun for the pups.

Make sure to keep up with all the fun by following us on Facebook and Instagram!

Dog Tales!

Sergeant Stubby

Stubby is known as one of the most decorated war dogs of the great war and the only dog to be promoted to sergeant through combat.

This tenacious terrier served in 17 battles on the western front with the 102nd Infantry Regiment. He saved his Regiment from countless mustard gas attacks and even had his own gas mask. He would warn of incoming artillery fire. He would find and comfort the injured in no man's land and even caught a German spy by biting and holding until backup arrived.

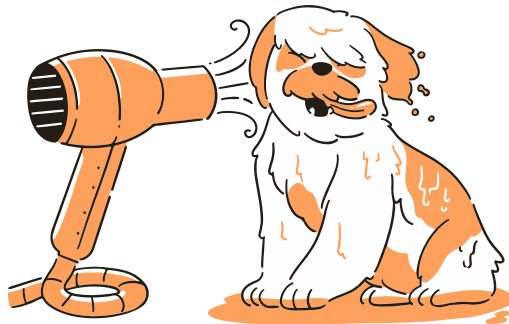

Powder Pups Vanity Room

We're very excited to announce the addition of grooming to our facility.

Powder Pups Vanity Room will be working from our in-house grooming salon, here at Playful Pups. With over a decade of experience we're thrilled to welcome Jacynta and Panda into the Playful Pups family.

Breed Highlight

Whippets
Starring Sonny

Resembling a small Greyhound the Whippet hails from England but may trace their lineage back to ancient Egypt.

Whippets are a hunting sight hound who were once used as warren dogs for catching rabbits and racing. They are also possibly the fastest accelerating dog breed! Their speed was one of the reasons they were such a successful hunting dog.

The Whippet became known as "the poor man's greyhound" and was frequently used for poaching and rabbit coursing to fill the pot.

Today Whippets are tough competition in both the lure racing sports, flyball, dock diving and couch stealing.

Underdog Training and Behaviour Consulting, Tips and Classes

Training Tips:

Teach your dog Boundaries:

1. Have your dog on lead and open the door or gate slightly- the moment your dog goes to exit without you giving the cue to do so, close the door. You will need to repeat this step many times before opening the door wider and doing the same thing.
2. Reward your dog for waiting when the door/gate is open. Toss the food reward away from the exit rather than right at the threshold.
3. Use a release word whenever you are happy for your dog to exit - try to chose a word not common in conversation - free, play, walk, release are common examples.

Dogs, Translated!

Does your pup like to roll in stinky things? Usually the worse smell the better?

There's a few reasons for this behaviour!

It's a call back to your dogs wolf ancestry. Rolling in scents would help to camouflage them from prey or predators.

But it's also thought to be a good way to share information in a family group. It's a way to say; "Hey look at this cool smell I found!"

Reviews.

Thanks to Brayden, Steph, Kobe and Olive!

The team at Playful Pups are the best around in my opinion, it's not often you find people that genuinely love your pet the same way you would, but we have found that with Joe and his personable team. Our dog wasn't great with other dogs before weekly visits with Playful pups so we are very thankful! Thanks guys
